TIPSTERS BACK ON TRACK

After last weeks miserabile round we have got back on track and picked quite a few more winners this week. We averaged almost 7 correct this week which is a marked improvement on last weeks dismal effort. If it wasn't for Mark trying to come last we would have been even better!

We had a couple of clever cookies this week who picked all 9 correct. Hats off to Brendan and AJ Magpie. Brendan was a bit stiff as his feathered competitor had a one point better margin.

AJ Magpie gets the prize this week but don't expect him to buy you a beer as we haven't seen hide nor feather of him in the club. Maybe if we go outside and look up?.....maybe.

KO 2 ALL CLEAR

No one fell on their sword this week but I reckon a couple of sphincters were blinking madly when Carlton were leading the Doggies by 27 points late in the third! But have no fear, Carlton are still learning how to win and the Doggies 8 unanswered goals in the last put paid to any KO fatalities this week.

LOCAL FOOTY

On Saturday Monbulk played host to Berwick

Springs and came away with a very convincing win. 29.15.189 to 5.1.31.

Taylor Joyce was amongst the goals again, kicking 8 and Michael Langworthy chipping in with 5 majors himself. This result sees Monbulk sitting atop the Division One ladder undefeated so far with a nice 276.42%.

MY FAVOURITE FOOTBALL OBSERVER

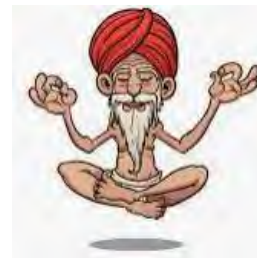

The Coodabeen Champions have been on the ABC radio on Saturday mornings for years but definitely my favourite segment was the football wisdom of Guru Bob. His insights into our game are remarkable but has never been seen at a game, but he claims to be hovering just above the half back flank at the MCG on most games. Here is an example of his insights, as revealed to Greg Champion.

"When two men go up for the mark, only one can find true happiness"

The Supreme Master at the Temple is fond of saying: "Just remember, when Collingwood loses to Hawthorn, a billion people in China don't care"

At other times the Supreme Master has been known to say: "Guru Bob, there are many things in life apart from football~and I just can't think of them,"

"There is a little bit of Tony Lockett in all of us, and a lot left over for Tony himself"

"The grand old Duke of York,
He had ten thousand men,
He put them all on Tony Lockett,
And he still kicked ten"

INTERVIEW

I thought we should catch up with Tracey today as she has birthday festivities looming, but as we all know you should never ask a woman her age.

D on D: G'day Tracey, how are you going?

T: Good thanks.

D on D: I hope you are going better than your footy tips, there you are ..look a bit lower...see?

T: 32nd! Can I demand a recount?

D on D: I'll ask the questions thanks Tracey...and no.

T: I'm going to dob on you to Artie!

D on D: Be my guest. And what age birthday are we celebrating this weekend?

T: Twenty One.

D on D: Yeah, no worries, of course it is Tracey. No seriously?

T: I've already told you, a twenty first.

D on D: Ok, ok, I'll run with that. I've been in Monbulk for 33 years and I think I have pretty well known you for all that time.

T: Yes, that would be right I reckon.

D on D: Oookkkaayyy. Still sticking with 21?

T: Yes I am. It only happens once in your life and we are going to make sure it is a good one.

D on D: I'm sure you will.

T: You don't sound like you believe me..

D on D: Of course I do Tracey, of course I do! May I personally wish you a happy twenty first birthday?

T: Strewth your'e a dickhead!

D on D: You may be right but I wont be printing that!.

T: It is my daughters 21st!

D on D: Oh.

T: Do I look 21?.

D on D: Of course you do.

T: Liar.

D on D: Thanks for your time Tracey.
