WE'VE GOT A CLOSE ONE!

With Essendon, Richmond and bloody North Melbourne serving upsets over the weekend it has made things very interesting.

With our long time leader getting only 5 this week it has allowed Craig to sneak up on him after a handy 7 correct. This will be going down to the wire folks with at least the top 10 all reckoning on finishing in the prizemoney.

What about poor Bretto? He got 8 this week and missed on picking his team, North. Brett usually picks North but didn't after about 40 losses in a row...what was he thinking!

Eilleen also picked a very creditable 8 and missed out on the same game. What do they say about a team when they give the coach the arse? They win, probably because they feel guilty for causing the sacking.

LOCAL FOOTY

Monbulk travelled up the hill to Olinda last weekend but came home with a loss by 8 points. Olinda are sitting in fourth with Monbulk in fifth place on the ladder at the moment. After kicking 6.16 last week they will need to sharpen their goal kicking skills to beat the second placed Woori Yallock at Monbulk this weekend. Should be a good game.

JOKES OF THE WEEK

What's blue and not very heavy? Light blue.

I told my wife she needs to start embracing her mistakes. So she hugged me.

Where do bad rainbows go? Prism. It is just a light sentence.

I'm really excited for the amateur autopsy club I just joined. Tuesday is open Mike night!

I accidentally rubbed tomato sauce in my eyes. I now have Heinzsight.

A 70-year-old man asked his wife...Husband: Do you feel sad when you see me running after young girls? Wife: No, not at all. Even dogs chase cars they can't drive.

Little Johnny wanted $100 for a new bike and prayed for two weeks, but nothing happened. Then he decided to write God a letter asking for the money. When the local postmaster saw the letter addressed to "God, Australia," he decided to send it to the Prime Minister of Australia. The Prime Minister was so impressed, touched, and amused that he instructed his secretary to send the little boy a $5 note. Little Johnny was delighted with the $5 and wrote a thank-you note to God. It read: "Dear God, thank you for sending the money. However, I noticed that for some reason you had to send it through Canberra, As usual, those crooks deducted $95."

One of the airlines recently introduced a special half-fare rate for wives accompanying their husbands on business trips.

Anticipating some valuable testimonials, the publicity department of the airline sent out letters to all the wives of businessmen who used the special rates, asking how they enjoyed their trip. Responses are still pouring in asking, "What trip?"

INTERVIEW

After finally getting out of isolation (will our lives ever be the same?) I managed to catch up with Col, our long time footy tipper who has never won, will this be his year?

D on D: G'day Col, how are you going?

C: Bloody cold Dave, dreamin' about summer

D on D: Me too. You reckon you got this tipping stitched up?

C: Well I am trying, you know, to win but there is some other people real close and they are trying too I suppose.

D on D: Yes, Craig got 7 this week and has joined you in first place.

C: What? You're kidding?

D on D: Sorry Col, it's the truth. You lead on margin though.

C: Thank goodness for that, I had a feeling it would be a tough round and I was right but I didn't think anyone would catch me because it is tough for them too.

D on D: Some found it easier than others, Brett and Eilleen got 8!

C: Did they...hmmm...might have to put my tips on after Case, that might work if I can get a glimpse of his secret tipping sheet.

D on D: That's usually firmly in his pocket Col and I think he guards against glimpsing.

C: Bugger.

D on D: Maybe just ask Case what Craig tipped?

C: Great idea! He would probably tell me wouldn't he?

D on D: He might, remember the only dumb question is the one you didn't ask.

C: That's true, ok, I'll give it a try.

D on D: Good luck with that Col. Thanks for your time.

C: No worries, my pleasure, hopefully you'll be asking me what I will do with my winnings in my next interview, if I win and if you interview me....
