ARE YOU COMING TO BED?

YOU THOUGHT YOU WOULD PICK NINE THIS WEEK...DIDN'T YOU?

We all thought it would be an easy round and it would only be a matter of nailing the margin and 20 oxfords would be sailing into the wallet. Wrong! Morgs and Andy Skipper got the margin spot on but missed games, like we all did.

I HATE SUNDAYS

Hands up who had all 6 correct on Saturday night?

Let me count..1,2....shitloads! That is why I hate Sundays. Cruising to a certain 9 and what happens? The doggies almost knocked off the Crows, Richmond sorted out a mediocre Collingwood and the pièce de résistance? Brisbane thumped Port! Man it is hard to pick 9! Admittingly there have been 11 pick 9's but they were all in the easy round 3, even my dog got 8 that week (the doggies got thrashed by the Hawks)!

Photo: My dog studying the form. Isn't she clever?

KO RESTARTS!

Here we go again KO tipsters, ready to start the second comp. After drumming my fingers on the desk waiting for Ted to get back from his overseas jaunt we are now ready to get cracking and try and pocket the jackpotted prize of $300! This is not compulsory but we expect all original 15 KO'sters to re-enter the fray.

ROAD TEST (product appraisal)

Check these bad boys out!

You reckon you have tasted it all when along comes something from left field. These chips crossed my desk this week and I reckoned it would be a good idea to road test them. I popped open the pack and sure enough they smelled like meat pie and sauce. I yelled out to the little missus to come and sample one and I had to beat her off with a stick so I could taste one! They taste like meat pie and sauce, whoda thunk? (I love the "limited edition", market speak for they may not sell, but we are putting them out there anyway!)

TIPSTERS INTERVIEW

This week we are hanging sh.. I mean interviewing our current RSL club secretary, Bombers supporter and genuine rotten tipster, Phil.

D on D: Gooday Phil, thanks for taking the time

PHIL: No worries Dave.

D on D: Suffering nose bleeds?

PHIL: Get stuffed! I have been that high on the ladder before.

D on D: Ok, but I can't remember it.

PHIL: Well I am knuckling down this season and am only 7 off the pace after 7 rounds.

D on D: How far off the pace do you think you will be at seasons end?

PHIL: About 23.

D on D: Pardon?

PHIL: Ok, I might be a wee bit behind them but there are still tipsters below me.

D on D: True, 10 to be precise. As the current holder of the Stone Motherless Last award do you see any challenges ahead?

PHIL: Yeah, tipping worse than those 10, I want my money back!

D on D: I bet you hope there aren't too many upset rounds.

PHIL: They kill me! All my dodgy tips turn out to be right!

D on D: The bombers aren't doing too well this year.

PHIL: Yeah, but we have won 3 games, all of them in Australia!

D on D: Ouch, that hurt. Maybe the Blues should re-locate to Auckland?

PHIL: Zimbabwe more like it..

D on D: Anyway...How is the Secretary position going?

PHIL: Not bad, I am getting the hang of it.

D on D: Do you have to wear a frock?

PHIL: No!

D on D: When Pete was Secretary I thought he should have one, not be one.

PHIL: Now that has got merit.

D on D: Try for it at the next meeting.

Thanks for your time Phil.

PHIL: Ok, no probs.
